Allan MacEachen Allan MacEachen (18 April 1941 – 3 March 2012) was a Scottish footballer who played as a winger for St Johnstone, Kilmarnock and Scotland. MacEachen was born in Ellon, Aberdeenshire, but lived in Fife as a young child and trained as a secondary school teacher in Fife. He signed for St Johnstone in June 1961, and made his debut against Dundee United on 11 September that year, scoring the only goal of the game. A further five goals came in the Scottish League Cup, and the highlight of his season was a 4-2 win against Heart of Midlothian. MacEachen joined Kilmarnock in July 1962, and scored 20 goals in just 14 games in the League. His only goal for Kilmarnock came against Celtic, and he left the club in October 1965. He spent the 1966 season with Junior side Falkirk, scoring 15 goals in 32 games. MacEachen earned his first international cap on 23 May 1965 against Finland, and scored one of Scotland's goals in a 3-3 draw with Yugoslavia on 13 October. He also played in a 0-0 draw against Hungary on 1 October 1965, a 0-0 draw against Czechoslovakia on 25 November, a 0-1 defeat against Hungary on 16 March 1966, and a 1-2 defeat against Hungary on 20 October 1966.

A move to the gym is a great way to improve your strength and endurance, as well as putting some life into your step. Researchers are now looking at how walking might be used to treat a number of medical conditions. In a recent study, researchers from McMaster University found that regular walking can prevent, or delay the onset of, diabetes and its complications in obese adults. Diabetes and obesity are two major risk factors for cardiovascular disease. In this study, the researchers looked at 8,320 adults aged 20 to 89. They followed participants for an average of 4.3 years. One group of participants (n=3,848) were assigned to an advice-only control group. A second group of participants (n=3,464) were asked to walk for at least 60 minutes at a time at least three times a week. If they didn't walk at least 60 minutes, they were asked to at least walk
