New York City, NY -- February 8, 2017 -- U.S. Postal Service will issue two commemorative Forever stamps featuring the history of the U.S. Postal Service. The first stamp, the Constitution stamp will depict the original Constitution of the United States. The second stamp, the Race to the Top of the World stamp will depict the first transcontinental mail route. The Constitution stamp will be issued on Monday, March 6. The Race to the Top of the World stamp will be issued on March 20. TODAY, February 8, 2017 -- An engraving of the original Constitution is at left. A photograph of the original cover of the Constitution (right) is among the artifacts from Washington D.C. that are featured on the stamp. "For more than 200 years, the U.S. Postal Service has played a critical role in helping to build our country. The Postal Service has been the vehicle and tool by which the ideals of our founding document -- the Constitution -- have been spread across the United States," says Deb Daniel-Hughes, Director of Stamp Services, U.S. Postal Service. "We are honored to commemorate the original Constitution with the stamp and are proud to have this stamp be available for all stamp lovers." The U.S. Constitution on the original Postal Service stamp, as printed by "Fradelon", an engraver at the U.S. Mint. It was produced by the artist Susan Moran for the Postal Service. The Postal Service's stamp will be the 35th in the 40-year commemorative stamp series. The stamp celebrating the fifth anniversary of the postal rate reduction was issued in 2013. The stamp design for the 40th issue was chosen by the public from among 4,000 submissions received in 2013. The Constitution stamp was selected as the winner. "The Postal Service is deeply committed to providing historic stamps to all Americans. This first of the Forever stamp series commemorating the founding of our country will inspire our many stamp lovers to become more familiar with this vital element of our country's history," says Donald T. 3e33713323
