The Orlando Magic are reportedly likely to draft Andrew Wiggins in the first round of the upcoming NBA Draft, which will take place on June 23. With the No. 1 overall pick, Orlando could add a franchise centerpiece who could emerge as a star someday. But right now, he's still very much a project, so it'll be interesting to see how he develops throughout his career. Wiggins is still growing as a player, and he's still learning the game. So he's far from a finished product. However, he'll definitely bring a lot of potential, and we can already see that potential in his game. As a big-bodied wing, Wiggins struggles a little defensively, as he doesn't contest his shots against smaller, quicker players. At 6'8" and 215 pounds with a 7'1" wingspan, he's very similar to guys like Anthony Davis or Serge Ibaka in terms of his
