Free.Download.Q: Java: Cannot access type I've got a problem with my Java program.
I'm writing a little "game" where users are able to play on a "ComputerBoard" on a JFrame (implemented as a JPanel). For one my x/y paddles I use Player.Board to access my Board object which is a member of the Player class. But because I'm using an interface, I get an error on x.Board.paddleX.push() (This is not done with x.Board.paddleX as it would crash the program) Does anyone know why my code is not possible to do what I want? Error message: Unable to locate type with name 'paddleX' Classes: Player: public class Player { private GameBoard board; public Player() { paddleX = board.paddleX.push(); paddleY = board.paddleY.push();
//movePaddle(); } } GameBoard: public

class GameBoard extends JPanel implements Board { //paddleX public static final int PADDLE_X = 0; //paddleY public static final int PADDLE_Y = 1; int player1X = 0; int player2X = 0; public Player pl1; public Player pl2; public GameBoard() { //initalize le variabile pl1 = new Player(); pl2 = new Player(); } public boolean isWinner(boolean pl1Wins){ if (pl1.pl1X>pl2.pl2X) return pl1Wins; if (pl1.pl1X>pl2.pl2X) return pl2Wins;
