I need to insert the value of a form input from the javascript function. A: The simplest solution might be using a session variable. So you can set it in the javascript by: function setValue(formObject, fieldName, value) { document.forms[formObject].elements[fieldName].value = value; document.cookie = "MyCookieName=" + value + "; path=/"; } Then in your "post", you can read it back and do whatever you need. Silly example, but you should be able to figure
