The issue, released Feb. 6, showed a total of 25 restaurants were listed in the Best of Cleveland issue. Six Cleveland eateries received first place rankings including Cleveland's own Margon. "We love the fact that this important event brings attention to Cleveland's food scene," said Chef Benjamin Lee, Executive Chef and Co-Owner of Margon, with fellow co-owner Chef Allan Korn. "Cleveland should be known for great food, and we are proud to be a part of that." Another local food spot gaining national attention is Wendel's. Chef Robert Wendel opened the store in Cleveland's West 27th Street with a goal of celebrating good old American food. The store has earned praise from the Northeast for its produce selection, CSA-box fresh foods, bagels, sandwiches and beers. "Chef Robert Wendel's passion for good food, together with his commitment to the community and producing great food at affordable prices made a great place from which to serve the Cleveland community," said Jaime Bennington, the owner and President of Landau Catering.
