A fantasy action RPG created by Arc System Works! The kind of game you've always dreamt of. • Classic RPG with cutting-edge graphics A classic fantasy action RPG that breaks with the conventional. The game enables seamless character customization, including the equipment and appearance, and has a rich story with a variety of battles. • An Epic Story with a Variety of Characters A long and complex story that's full of rich material. Interact with a huge variety of characters, from standard NPCs and bosses to legendary figures that you'll be able to meet in addition to the heroes, as you fight on the path to the Elden Lord. • Missions for Dungeons Prologue, Epilogue, and multiple additional missions in dungeons scattered throughout the world. If a dungeon mission gets too easy, there are new dungeons and a series of bosses where you'll face a fierce challenge. • Action Combat An action RPG that constantly increases the excitement with innovative mechanics. The combat is fast-paced, and the action is intense with a variety of skills to use. • A Variety of Special Skills You can combine up to five skills, and use your skills for both defensive and offensive actions. With an array of skills that are capable of dealing great damage, you'll come to enjoy the fun of finding the right combination. ■Character Information Age: [Male] Height: [155cm (5ft3in)] Weight: [56kg (123lb)] ■Personal Style: Dress: [Long-sleeved black buttoned-up shirt and red pants] Weapon: [A rapier and shields] Equipment: [A copper ring and a bronze amulet] ■Other: [I'm an Elden Lord] ■Rookie Level is 0 (Story Events are considered a beginner's game) ■Lv1 Mission: [The Training of the Revived] ■Mission Information Can only be played in the Tutorial, and enemies have only the basic attack. Y'know what sucks? Having taken over a portion of the gaming industry, having cards stacked against you, and following through on a rather unannounced project with all that being taken into consideration. We've been given no more time to finish the game and we have a new project in the works.

We're ready to roll up the sleeves and take on full-on development again on U4GM's upcoming project, The Elder Ring. The game has been absolutely smashed into pieces by both the rocky terrain of QQ.net/Game/36539479_1139073817 as I have been waiting for this game for a while, I'm glad I was able to finally experience it. The looks are good and the story line is certainly unique enough, although the characters are not much to speak of. The world is beautiful even if it takes some getting used to, where it has different locations that offer your encounter different fights. Now for the gameplay, I found the combat a little tedious at first, since the controls are not the simplest to master (one button for attack and one for using a special skill like fire, ice, wood, fire, etc. The way it works is that you can use your magic to cast a spell that has several different attacks based on the elements of that spell, for example fire attacks, ice attacks, etc. However the rules of the game allows you to use certain elements of your spells more than once, so if you aim to use the fire spell as your main attack you can cast it in different ways by using different elements, so first use fire, then use cold, then use fire again, etc. The good thing is that it makes the combat different from each other, not to mention that you have special skills for every element. Also you can use each element more than once. I cannot say much about the story, as it does not open until you complete the main quest and when you do, well the story is interesting enough. However you do not have control of your character at all, so other than the setting of the main world, the story is quite bland. Even though it is in fragments, you do learn more about the main characters as you play through and they become more interesting the more you learn about them. The game has a lot of different NPCs that you can talk to, and you have the option to challenge them and talk to them about your own quest, or send them to other places to help you. There are also shops and shops where you can get new items and items to make new items. Gameplay wise, I was quite happy with this game. You can play it solo or in multiplayer. There are a lot of side missions, and some of them are really interesting, as I really do not know what the point is. The story was interesting enough, however the character development is rather minimal. Also this game is more of a "game" rather than a bff6bb2d33
