Inactivation of the platelet glycoprotein IIb/IIIa receptor by pyridoxal-5'-phosphate.

Pyridoxal-5'-phosphate (PLP) rapidly inactivates the platelet membrane glycoprotein (GP) IIb/IIIa fibrinogen receptor, but PLP is not a simple structural analogue of D-serine. The membrane receptor's -SH groups were labeled with a fluorogenic reagent, 5-[2-benzothiazolyl]-2'-nitriloacetamide, and the labeling was determined spectroscopically. When quenched with a thiol-specific fluorogenic reagent, N-iodoacetyl-N'-(7-dimethyl-1,4-diazaundec-4-yl)p-phenylenediamine, the amount of labelling was significantly less than that obtained with the free -SH group of beta-D-glucosaminidase. PLP inactivated

What's in a Name?

Lands Between is a word frequently used in northern Europe. It refers to the lands that lie "between" the lands controlled by the three major warring states of the Middle Ages--the current Kingdom of Breland, Archadia, and Wroan--and the fabled lands known as the Flanaess. Rivalries took a toll on the lives of many who searched for power or adventure.

Elden Ring is the union of the two words "Elden", which are derived from the Old-Norse word "eld," that describes the people of the Zelda II was released in 1987 and upon release many complained that the primary control on the NES was unplayable - the two controllers were connected on both sides thus making it difficult to move the cursor without some skew. This extension fixed that problem and Nintendo licensed it to Monolith Inc.

The creators never made more than one arcade game, but the equipment was used for Star Wars and Sam and Max games on the Atari 2600, among other localizations. More recently, the special Nintendo arcade style kit was pulled from production and used as the primary control method in the Final Fantasy series.

televisionA novel polymorphism in the 3' UTR of the human oviductin gene. Human oviductin is a peptide hormone and member of the secretin/glucagon/gastric inhibitory polypeptide (GIP) family. It is encoded in the oviduct by a single gene and is secreted as a 70-amino acid peptide. The 3' untranslated region of the oviductin gene is polymorphic. We have identified a new allele at a 3' untranslated region polymorphism in the oviductin gene. Three primers were designed for the identification of the polymorphism: one was located in the 5' region of the oviductin gene, and two others were located in the 3' region of the gene. The two polymorphisms were found in 33.3 and 27.3% of the subjects, respectively. The new polymorphism (g.25853 C-->
