MO LIVE is a co-operative wargame designed to run in a browser. This game features three to six players each with their own cooperative gameplay experiences all taking place in one single global map. With realistic naval action and realistic deployment of special forces, both sides will end up battling one another in the strategic arc in locations across the globe. When fighting an opponent in MO LIVE, you will get a detailed view of what your opponent is up to. You will be able to see where they are deployed, their current and maximum points, what they are building in their garages, the quality of each of their boats and whether they can repair their fleet. All of that information will be given to you in a well thought out presentation that is streamlined and keeps the information relevant. At the same time you will be able to concentrate on fighting your opponent. You can command your units and manage your fleet easily and effectively. MO LIVE is the most impressive multi-player browser game in this genre ever created. MO LIVE is FREE to play and has no known real time payments and no real time limit on playing. History of MO LIVE: When it came out, MO LIVE was designed to be a simple, free online wargame to be played without any downloads. MO LIVE is the result of almost four years of development. Initial plans were to release the game in two versions - one paid and one free. But the idea was abandoned. MO LIVE evolved into what it is today. For the most part, MO LIVE was built as a tribute to the wargame Avalon Hill made more than thirty years ago. Modern computers and the Internet make certain features that were possible in the past, but difficult to include, available now. MO LIVE has all of the fun and challenge of Avalon Hill games, but without the complicated rules and the often frustrating learning curve. You don't need any other programs to play MO LIVE. No server or software needed! If you do not want to use any online features or map you can use a digital version of the MO LIVE map without the features. The game itself is possible and playable to the highest resolution in all browsers. We've implemented (almost) all the necessary features from the browser, which includes some special effects and the integration of microtransactions. MO LIVE is a browser-based wargame. MO LIVE is played in a browser. On MO LIVE you will be able to fight with three or six players in one single online game. MO LIVE is played

What's new:

2D Jigsaw Puzzle Simulater I have more to share with you but I will do that after some time. Welcome to "The Unreal World". I encourage you to save this for later so that you can drop by when you are more sleepy. But I came to post about a topic that I have been quite attentive to lately, which just like a restaurant menu, is full of tempting dishes. Which I still need to visit and check whether they are still available or not? I was hungry for some time but it was better that I wait for this. Usually - if there is a spirit in the air, it will seem that some legendary music vengeful spirit might have brought it back from the dead. Pah! Perhaps that is just fake news. Let's make a proper start and I will explain to you what I am interested in. The topic that I am going to discuss is a programming pattern that is actually a critical part of the modern day software development, popularly known as "reactive programming". Start with a jittering noise. It's a good way to wake up your brain. What is that itches in my brain? What is this piano arrangement? But how come there is no piano here? You can have your favorite music as well if you don't want jitter. It is called “Unreal Engine Belong Mode” which can be found in the same forum. The wonderful author is “DuZefa”. Okokok I will listen to the third pattern. I need to visit my broker (which means that I will need to actually do some work soon). My stomach is still a bit empty but it is time to start with the blog-schedule. Hopefully this time it will be successful. Now I am still hungry. A chicken leg would be suitable. I think it might be a steak. I need a beer to celebrate this new day. The beer would also be delicious. Now I am not very busy for a week and maybe I need some more. Comfort food - my stomach can take it. In addition to this I can also have some research topic. Oh, I forgot to say this line. More or

Haven't you always wanted...? This VR experience uses the architectural design by M@ STUDIO Architects for the 2016 National Gallery of Victoria (NGV) Architecture Commission titled “Haven’t you always wanted...?” which transplanted a familiar object (a suburban car wash) into an unfamiliar surrounding (the art gallery) and explores ideas of ‘uncertain conditions’ and ‘dematerialisation’ using materials such as multiple layers of cricket netting - that create moire effects - and hot pink astro turf. ‘If only...’ asks what if we could experience the changes we make to an architectural design in real time and from inside the architectural space and see the effects of the transformation from morning through to evening. The materiality of the pavilion can be changed in ways that may not, in reality, be possible or practical (such as gold netting), while you can teleport to different locations

inside and outside the pavilion. 'If only...' also works with and extends some of the themes of the M@ STUDIO pavilion in order to develop atmosphere, mood and experience. It offers bubbles, fog, ghostly portals, the chill of a cold night and just you inside the pavilion changing the materials as many times as you like and watching the shadows, seeing what happens as the sun rises and sets. If only... 'If only...' is a collaboration between RMIT University's Centre for Game Design Research, M@ STUDIO Architects and d_Lab RMIT which explores game design experience and architectural design.

----- The National Gallery of Victoria (NGV), situated in Melbourne, is the oldest and most visited gallery in Australia. Founded in 1861, today the NGV holds the most significant collection of art in the region; a vast treasury of more than 70,000 works that span thousands of years and a wealth of ideas, disciplines and styles. RMIT is a global university of technology, design and enterprise. Situated in Melbourne, it is one of Australia's original tertiary institutions and RMIT University enjoys an international reputation for excellence in professional and vocational education, applied research, and engagement with the needs of industry and the community.
