Temple Owls Submitted January 05, 2012 The Temple Owls had their first away game of the season in Texas a week and a half ago (2-1). We've seen the ups and downs of the Owls so far and came away from that game disappointed after having a lead in the first quarter. The Owls were tied at halftime before TX finished the game off with a string of consecutive field goals to avenge the loss that the Owls suffered in the previous game. The Owls go to South Carolina State on Saturday to face the Bulldogs. It'll be Temple's second chance to beat South Carolina State. They've beaten the Bulldogs in 2010 (5-0) and swept the season series in 2011 (2-0). Texas was recently announced as a bowl participant, where they will take on California on December 31st. Quick hitters - The Owls have seven starters back from the 2011 squad, including all of the offensive line and defensive line. - Temple has had an injury plague at receiver so far this season. The 6'5" guy that caught two touchdowns against Texas is out and starting wideout Duron Carter has been hampered by a foot injury. Not exactly the offense you want to be missing. - It's been a rough season for punter Christian Jones. Jones has suffered multiple injuries to his throwing hand/wrist. A couple of weeks ago he had to come out in the fourth quarter because it was hurting so much. - Temple lost in a bowl game last season. This is a new team, a different coaching staff, and a new season so we'll have to take it one game at a time and let things work themselves out. - The Owls have a few walk-ons on defense as well. Big linebacker (Haven Vawter is 6'2, 235 lbs, played at Nevada), middle linebacker (Jolton Marks is 6' c9d1549cdd

In Rift Apart, you play the role of Stint, a photographer... moreBrazil's Sao Paulo state has become the latest state to end its cooperation with an internal affairs body created by President Donald Trump's administration to root out undocumented immigrants. The Peace Corps was founded in 1961 as a service of the U.S. government to help the world's poor and promote democracy. But the board of directors of the Sao Paulo State Peace Corps office recently resigned from the Peace Corps, its employees told the Washington Post. The board includes one other Peace Corps employee and its director. This week, the Washington Post reported that Peace Corps was creating a new division to deter applicants from Latin America, particularly from Central America. It's unclear if this involves the offices in Brazil and Peru, but Brazil's state-run news service, Agence Brasil, reported Monday that Peace Corps had ceased to operate in Sao Paulo state after it was informed the Peace Corps had cut all ties with the agency. Sao Paulo state is home to about 700,000 people, according to the Brazilian Institute of Geography and Statistics. According to the Washington Post, the Peace Corps plans to hire a company to help it get information from undocumented immigrants in Brazil, because the agency has struggled in recent years to verify the identity of its volunteers. Under a new plan, the agency will screen applicants for their criminal records. South Carolina, Arizona and Virginia have stopped accepting Peace Corps volunteers in recent years.Sen.
