A live demonstration of HyperMotion gameplay and a way to try it out is available on FIFA.com. Live gameplay will also be available on the FIFA.com showroom at CES 2014. "HyperMotion is a unique technology and we believe it's a perfect fit for soccer - it works so well because it's a combination of that great virtual sense of speed and FIFA's unique Artificial Intelligence," said David Rutter, Senior Director, Virtual Reality at EA Sports. "We are always looking for new ways to improve the overall gameplay experience and we're thrilled to be able to announce this major milestone for FIFA." New Depth Pass and High Precision Shooting add to UEFA Champions League experience FIFA Ultimate Team has introduced a wide range of new content for the UEFA Champions League, including the return of "History" and "Colours" cards from previous games, new cards for the likes of Manchester United legend Ryan Giggs, and seven new players including Ronaldo. The card packs can be bought individually, or as part of the UEFA Champions League with PlayPack, a new season-long free card game. They can also be acquired in-game by microtransactions, which now include over 500 new cards across over 30 leagues and more than 4,000 cards overall. Finally, FIFA Ultimate Team now offers to play with managers from all 30 UEFA Champions League teams, allowing players to experience the big games from every team. This unique feature has been expanded to include players from the 21 countries that make up the UEFA Nations League, allowing players to experience the lives of managers of the 16 teams that make up the final tournament. Mr. Agnelli, UEFA CEO: "World football continues to discover exciting new features in FIFA Ultimate Team that make football as accessible as possible to fans. I am sure that FIFA Ultimate Team with PlayPack will be a winning proposition for players and fans alike." DirectX 12 will give PlayStation 4 players incredible, high-speed graphics FIFA Ultimate Team has received a range of new content for PlayStation 4, including a new Skin pack featuring the FIFA 16 Away Kit. The kit features incredible detail, thanks to the new game engine feature DirectX 12, which has been made available to PlayStation 4 through software update. To mark this new game feature, PlayStation 4 players will also be able to experience the speed

What's new:

- AI Improvements - The AI has been enhanced across the board. Players will learn from their mistakes and adjust their play patterns to ensure they use the whole pitch. Every single player will adapt their play to position themselves for the riskiest of shots, or for one-on-one situations.
- Bigger Goalkeepers - Goalkeepers are the most important players on the pitch. They dictate the defensive strategies of their teams, and their positioning also determines the attacking options they offer. The difference between a productive set and a dangerous set will be immense if the goalkeeper is well positioned.
- Substitutions - There will be many different tactics and plays with substitutes. You can decide whether to leave your existing starters out on the pitch, put them on afterwards, or replace them. The choice comes down to how you want to play.
- Improved Attacking Dynamics - The specific plays that players will be able to choose from have been refined to enhance attacking dynamics.
- Dynamic Grass - Players are now able to jump and slide on the pitch through grass and sand using physics technology. This new feature creates much more realistic animations and makes for a much more fun, fluid experience.
- Skills - New special-effects have been added to training drills that help to make players look more realistic. Skilled players spend more time training than players who just take headers around the pitch!
- Passing - Players are more likely to pull-the-puck back for a forward pass, or a long through-ball if the defences have committed too many players towards the back.
- Re-Defined Soccer Feel - A new control scheme leads to a more refined and intuitive soccer feel.
