reggelreTalkClock Cracked Accounts is a desktop gadget that contains a clock with alarm notifications and speech. It is very easy to install and set up, even if your experience with software apps is limited. The interface is based on a small frame that you can move anywhere on the screen with the help of the mouse cursor. Thanks to the built-in Windows options, you can also make it stay on top of other windows, as well as adjust the opacity level. This way, reggelreTalkClock is not intrusive, and you can easily switch to its screen while working in other applications. The main panel shows the current time in 12-hour format, along with the default alarm beneath it. From the Options panel you enable speech mode at a regular time interval (15 minutes, 30 minutes, 1 hour), as well as select the alarm mode (talk one time, hibernate computer), text to say (default or custom), talk rate, and volume level. The small widget is very light on the system resources, using a minimal amount of CPU and RAM. It has a good response time and works well, without causing the OS to hang, crash or show error notifications. Thanks to its rich and intuitive settings, reggelreTalkClock should please all users. Press Start Windows 10 and type reggelreTalkClock in the search box. Click on reggelreTalkClock. Start -> All Programs -> reggelreTalkClock -> reggelreTalkClock App Click on "install" button and wait for the installation to complete. Open reggelreTalkClock App The main frame has a clock widget that shows the current time in 12-hour format and the default alarm. The alarm has 2 ways to be set (by double clicking on the alarm, or by entering a time and date). You can set up to 2 alarms. Also, the time can be set by an interval of 15, 30, or 1 hour, and these alarms can be set to be a talk for 1 time, or the computer can be hibernated once they are set. You can also change the text to say out loud (default and custom) and change the rate of talking. Press CTRL + ESC to bring the reggelreTalkClock app to the foreground, then go to Settings->General Tab->Speech->Speech Settings, and follow these instructions: Volume: Make sure there is some noise in the system volume, for example there are notifications from

I have a number of audio files stored as MP3 on S3. I am considering switching to using Amazon Elastic File System to store the data, but before I do I would like to have a better understanding of how many storage and bandwidth costs would be involved. I understand that streaming audio from S3 has costs associated with the data transfer. I assume that the total bandwidth cost of sending the same data would be roughly the same across the 2 approaches
