Below are the reviews written by the users of Akihabara. • “The characters in this game are so well done!!” The game is full of wonderful characters, and it really shows the charm of the game. • “The characters are so many that you can actually make your own party!” Apart from the main party characters, you can make your own custom characters for you to use in the field, which includes new types and classes of characters. • “The over-all game system is new and good!” The game is full of new gameplay elements and well written story. It is a shame this game is being released before The Witcher 2, but as a RPG fan it is a great game even without it. • “The combat system is very good!” The combat system can be enjoyable by capturing many enemies, or challenging to those who want to fight with critical hits. • “The character development system is good!” Apart from the basic jobs, it is also possible to use a job that you train in the dungeon. It is also possible to level up your main character. • “The skill tree system is also very good!” It is very easy to understand the structure of the skill tree. You can even customize your own skill tree. • “The battle system is also very good!” Since this game is a combat-focused RPG, there is also a battle system that integrates the powerful elements of ARPGs. • “The battle system is actually better than the one in the previous games!” It is possible to finish the quest while using a typical battle system, and even in missions where you use only real-time action. • “The changes to the battle system are good!” It is possible to play the game with only a single character, but the changes to the battle system make it possible to use more than one character. • “The change to the battle system is amazing!” You can actually play a new game by changing the job of your character, and even make the battle more difficult by using a strong class. • “The action RPG bff6bb2d33

[Ionic substitution therapy of hyperchloremic metabolic acidosis using sodium bicarbonate in chronic hemodialysis patients with metabolic alkalosis]. Hyperchloremic metabolic acidosis is frequently observed in patients undergoing chronic dialysis therapy. Conventional treatments of hyperchloremia are high dialysate bicarbonate and increased dialysate sodium concentration. The aim of this study was to evaluate the efficacy of sodium bicarbonate administration for the correction of hyperchloremic metabolic acidosis in chronic dialysis patients. Consecutive dialysate bicarbonate was decreased from 32 to 21 mmol/L in a chronic dialysis patient whose plasma total CO₂ and bicarbonate level were increased to 31.7 and 15.3 mmol/L, respectively. Bicarbonate was then increased from 21 to 36.8 mmol/L by using a slow sodium bicarbonate infusion for 18 hours. Average pH, plasma total CO₂, bicarbonate and CO₂ gap was 7.45±0.07, 28.5±2.0, 22.1±2.4 and 8.4±2.2 before dialysis; 7.33±0.08, 19.6±2.0, 19.5±2.1, 5.1±2.4 and 7.1±2.1 6 hours later, and 7.31±0.09, 15.9±1.5, 15.7±1.5,

-1.5±2.4 and 12.2±2.3 at the end of dialysis, respectively. The average changes were significant (p
