Be sure that you have an application to open this file type before downloading and/or purchasing. 1 MB|21 pages Share Product Description This is a great way to kick-start phonemic awareness and beginning sight words learning for kindergarten. I have also included a fun bonus fun starting phonics pages to attract students to learning and use these kinds of fun activities. There is lots of space to jot down, write, talk about and solve problems. I have created almost 4 mini lessons where each lessons I attach each students apron with a mini lesson goal for that day. Students can work silently on their own apron or together with their peer apron of opposite word choice. I attach their butternut squash, clay and mosaic apron of fruits, vegetables and fibers to for them to try on. This package includes: - 3 cherry red or butternut squash apron. - 2 clay apron/boxes and tools. (I have two boxes and two bowls). - 7 mosaic apron/tiles, tools and glue. - 3 envelopes (one to start learning a new word and one to fill up). - 3 color in-foam easels. - 12 mini lessons of learning basics in reading, writing, vocabulary and phonics. Each lesson starts with an introduction, an A-B partner rhyme and end with a craft. There is a total of 4 lessons. 1 lessons of learning words, 1 lessons for the/re/words, 1 lessons for consonant blends and 1 lesson for exploring parts of speech. As well as: - Free lesson guides and games (a bundle of 24 templates and games for you to print out and use them - lesson on how to print the classroom freebies)Google Now typeahead Google Now typeahead is an enhanced predictive text input method implemented as a web browser extension for Google Chrome. Typeahead itself was discontinued on December 14, 2015, replaced by Autocomplete. It is similar to Adobe Flash-based QuickSearchTips but is more convenient, and can be used when it is not appropriate or convenient to use Flash. The autocomplete index for search typing in Google Chrome includes predictions derived from both autocomplete results and visual search via the Google Now feedback panel. Results from both segments are combined and displayed as an explanation for the currently typed character as well as a list of other

Sigma airlines can't afford to be complacent Staff Reporter A long-standing cabin crew dispute has flared into public discussion over the past two weeks, leading to the country's second-biggest airlines threatening to impose on-board pay cuts of up to 30 per cent, leaving some cabin crew complaining of empty-seat fights and mistreatment by Korean public. The latest blow was a sudden announcement in late June by Korean private carrier Airlines Co, South Korea's second-biggest airline, to end its less than four-year contract with two of its biggest cabin crew unions. ↻
