I've been waiting for over 6 years now to finally have a painless and affordable way to deploy a standard cloud OS to my home server, and I'm starting to lose hope. Yes, the commercial offerings aren't bad, but they're way too rich and heavy for my home. If I want a hypervisor, I'd rather download Virtual Box, but as a host OS I need an attractive combination of features. I have enough knowledge to make this work, but it's not about a single hack, I'm looking for a simple tool with a UI that works the same as the commercial offerings, but less expensive and more powerful. I want easy-to-use. I want the result to work straight out of the box. I don't want to have to install anything, or even go through the effort of downloading or securing a license. It's 2016, and I should be able to make this happen without having to fight the Linux/UNIX community to make it happen. A tool that does the following: 1) Supports Linux, BSD, Windows and macOS 2) Supports KVM/QEMU, VirtualBox, VMware Workstation/Player, Hyper-V, Hyper-V Server, and
