Or maybe you use bots which generate free robux each day? Please leave a comment below. So you said the Robux are not a currency anymore Wait, Robux are a currency?? Where is this coming from? Well we know thats not what makes it a currency. Would you prefer an IRL currency and exchange? In the game the main currency is not robux. We had to make the currency play the part of being a currency to keep it playable. There are lots of bad things players can do with money. In the game that is not possible Like what? Stealing coins from other players or using the robux to buy in game items and software. Do you have any proof about the bad things you mentioned?? No no proof was needed. But there are tons of real world currency trading sites that prove what you asked. How is that related to the currency itself? In the game there is no way to use a currency to buy stuff. So we put in place a system that the currency can be used to buy stuff. And if the currency keeps going down in value? It's irrelevant because in the game the currency actually has little value at all. There's hardly any economy. I thought there was a "buy" option. In the game there is no buy option for that currency. Why are you putting the currency in this price chain? Well we knew it was an issue and instead of removing the currency there we decided to make it so it has value. Why was it an issue? Why would players want to use the currency as a means to exchange and why would they want to use the currency to create a store? Is there a way for players to get the currency for free instead of using robux? Well if they don't want to use the currency they can just use robux. If so why did you keep the currency in the first place? So it makes sense in game. What does that mean? In the game if you have more currency then it makes more sense to sell it to the players to buy things like items to make the store. So why did you changed it from a free currency? To make the currency more playable and to help the players. But it's still very accessible for
