Rihanna Born: The daughter of Naomi Campbell (then Campbell) and Ford Kiernan. Climbed school's social ladder to become a fashion model in the early 2000s and has appeared in campaigns for brands including Versace, Chanel and W Magazine. 19th September 2001 the British singer and songwriter Rihanna was born on the island of Barbados, the eldest of three girls of Naomi Campbell (then Campbell) and Ford Kiernan. Rihanna was named after Rihanna Fenty, her grandmother. Growing up Rihanna was given the nickname 'baby sis' as the daughter of two model mothers. Her three sisters were aged respectively four, five and eight years younger than her. In her book, "How To Be A Woman: To Stand Alone In A Loud World", Rihanna writes "Being a woman means you have to take that responsibility. Rihanna's career began when her parents, Naomi Campbell and Ford Kiernan, signed her to their modelling agency in 1998 as a teenager at the tender age of 15 years. In 2000, she signed a recording contract with DBA Records, owned by veteran record producer, Ken Latouche. During her time with DBA Records Rihanna enjoyed success with the singles 'Loud' and 'Unfaithful'. She also performed at the BRIT Awards in 2002, with awards going to her and her record label boss Kenneth Latouche. Noted in the British press, Rihanna has been invited to join the Teen Dream list and to be an ambassador for the 2008 New York Fashion Week. Moreover, she has been endorsed by L'Oreal, Newbury Comics and Body Shop and in the United States has been endorsed by Bloomingdales, Burberry and Express.
