Lazesoft Recover My Password 4.2.3.1 Unlimited Edition + Serials.Q: Integral of homogeneous degree-1 differential over complex affine line. An affine complex line is a complex vector space V isomorphic to \mathbb{C}^n for some n . Let f be a degree 1 homogeneous differential, i.e. $f \in \mathcal{D}^1(\mathbb{C}^n)$. Define the integral of f to be $\int_{\gamma} f = f(\gamma(0))\gamma'(0)$, where γ is a parametrization of the line. My question is, is this integral independent of the parametrization of the line? I know that if γ is non-affine, then it depends on the parametrization. If f is not degree-1 homogeneous, then this is not true. Since the integral is just a translation of the differential, I suspect it may not depend on the parametrization, but I have not been able to find a proof. A: Assuming you want a holomorphic function on $\mathbb{C} \setminus \mathbb{P}^1$, the value of $f(0, \infty)$ has no influence (since it doesn't affect the level sets of f).
